

Simon Puleo

Simon Puleo, Certified Ethical Hacker (CEH), is an educator/trainer by day and a security researcher at night. He is a cyber security thought leader sought after by numerous industry and syndicated publications such as USA Today and ITSP Magazine as well as leading industry seminars at conferences for ISSA, ISACA, and Data Connectors.

As a Global Enablement Security Manager at MicroFocus, Simon empower sales reps, employees, partners and customers through providing a security and risk and governance approach which protects what matters most, identities, applications and data. In addition, he is engaged in delivery cyber best practices to schools and non-for-profits.